

Elementary
Background Materials

Learning Strategies Defined

Elbow Talk

“Elbow Talk” is when the student talks with the person closest to them for an established amount of time about what they’ve just learned in class. Usually, this is informal and short, especially with the younger students. The time spent ranges from 20-30 seconds to about a minute. A more widely known term for teachers about the same learning strategy is ‘share and pair.’